Overview of Indian Economy

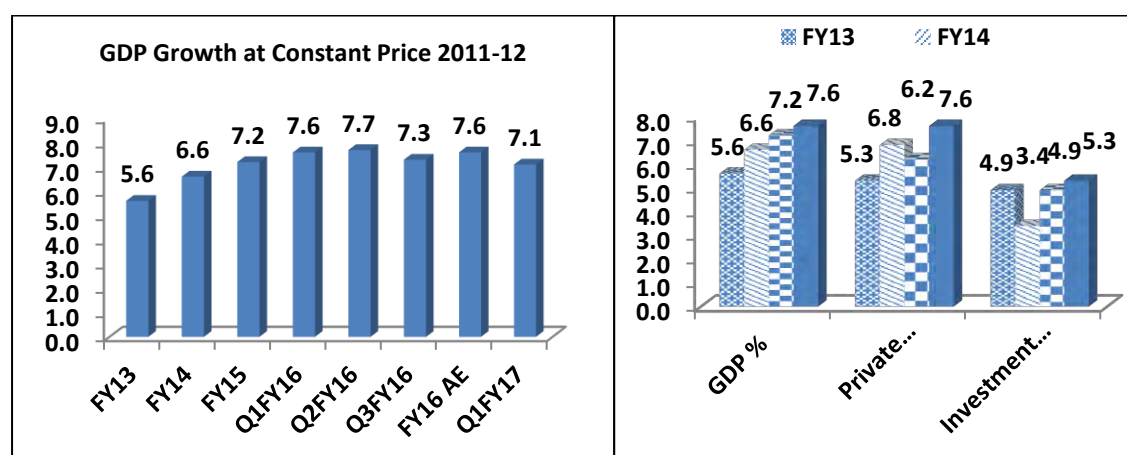

India, a South Asian nation, is the seventh-largest country by area, the second-most populous country with over 1.25 billion people, and the most populous democracy in the world. India is the fourth largest economy in the world in terms of purchasing power parity (PPP). India has emerged as the fastest growing major economy in the world as per the Central Statistics Organisation (CSO) and International Monetary Fund (IMF). According to the Economic Survey 2015-16, the Indian economy will continue to grow more than 7% in 2016-17. The improvement in India's economic fundamentals has accelerated in the year 2015 with the combined impact of strong government reforms, RBI's inflation focus supported by benign global commodity prices.

India was ranked the highest globally in terms of consumer confidence during October-December quarter of 2015, continuing its earlier trend of being ranked the highest during first three quarters of 2015, as per the global consumer confidence index created by Nielsen.

According to IMF World Economic Outlook Update (January 2016), Indian economy is expected to grow at 7-7.75% during FY 2016-17, despite the uncertainties in the global market. The Economic Survey 2015-16 had forecasted that the Indian economy will growing by more than 7% for the third successive year 2016-17 and can start growing at eight per cent or more in next two years.

The steps taken by the government in recent times have shown positive results as India's gross domestic product (GDP) at factor cost at constant (2011-12) prices 2015-16 is Rs 113.5 trillion (US$ 1.668 trillion), as against Rs 105.5 trillion (US$ 1.55 trillion) in 2014-15, registering a growth rate of 7.6%. The economic activities which witnessed significant growth were 'financing, insurance, real estate and business services' at 11.5% and 'trade, hotels, transport, communication services' at 10.7%.

India's economic growth decelerated to its slowest level in six quarters in the April-June period, potentially making the government's target of achieving 8% growth this year more daunting. Data released by the Central Statistics Office (CSO) showed gross domestic product (GDP) grew 7.1% in the Q1FY17, against 7.9% in the preceding three months, the Q4FY16.

Current Account Deficit

For the entire 2015-16 fiscal, CAD stood at 22.1 billion 1.1% of the GDP as against 26.8 billion 1.8% for 2014-15, according to Reserve Bank of India data. India's current account deficit (CAD) declined sharply to $0.3 billion 0.1% of Gross Domestic Product in the fourth quarter of ended March 2016 (FY16) from $ 7.1 billion 1.3%, in third quarter ended December 2015, on account of lower trade gap. The trade deficit in the fourth quarter of FY16 stood at $24.8 billion compared to $31.6 billion in Q4 of 2014-15. The country's trade deficit was $130.1 billion for FY16 while for FY15 it stood at $144.9 billion. Balance of Payments (BOP) stayed in positive territory with accretion of $3.3 billion to India's Foreign exchange reserves in Q4 2015-16. The overall BOP during the fiscal FY16 moderated to $17.9 billion from $ 61.06 billion in 2014-15.

Index of Industrial Production

Industrial production shrank 0.7% in August as compared to a 2.4% contraction in July, mainly on account of declining output in manufacturing and capital goods sectors. On a cumulative basis, the factory output, as measured by the index of industrial production, in April-August declined by 0.3% compared with the corresponding period a year ago. Output in mining, manufacturing and electricity sectors for the month of August grew 0.6 per cent, (-) 1.2% and 5.7%, respectively. Foreign Direct Investments

According to Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion (DIPP), the total FDI investments India received in April-December period of 2015 was US$ 40.82 billion, indicating that government's effort to improve ease of doing business and relaxation in FDI norms is yielding results.

Data for FY 2015-16 indicates computer hardware and software segment attracted the highest FDI equity inflow of US$ 6.9 billion, followed by the computer hardware and software sector (US$ 5.9 billion). Most recently, the total FDI equity inflows for the month of March 2016 touched US$ 2.47 billion as compared to US$ 2.12 billion in the same period last year.

During FY2015-16, India received the maximum FDI equity inflows from Singapore at US$ 13.69 billion, followed by Mauritius (US$ 8.35 billion), USA (US$ 4.19 billion), Netherlands (US$ 2.64 billion) and Japan (US$ 2.61 billion). Healthy inflow of foreign investments into the country helped India's balance of payments (BoP) situation and stabilised the value of rupee.

FDI in India witnessed an increase of 29% and reached US$ 40 billion during April 2015-March 2016 as compared to US$ 30.93 billion in the same period last year.

FII's net investments in Indian equities and debt have touched record highs in the past financial year, backed by expectations of an economic recovery, falling interest rates and improving earnings outlook. FIIs net investments stood at Rs 18,106 crore (US$ 2.65 billion) in March 2016, out of which Rs 16,731 crore (US$ 2.45 billion) was invested in equities and Rs 1,375 crore (US$ 201 million) was invested in debt. Cumulative value of investments by FIIs during April 2000- December 2015 stood at US$ 179.32 billion.

India companies signed Merger and Acquisition (M&A) deals worth US$ 30.43 billion in 2015 across 600 deals. The total M&A transaction value for the month of February 2016 was US$ 1.83 billion involving a total of 37 transactions. INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

The Indian logistics market recorded US $104.10 billion revenue in 2014, and is likely to reach revenues of US $150-$160 billion by 2020. Transportation accounts for about 60 per cent of the market revenues. Demand for project logistics services will be particularly strong in the manufacturing sector as the Indian Government's push to increase the manufacturing output in the country will spur infrastructural activities in this space. The total market opportunity for project logistics services in India is estimated to be $150.86 billion for the 2014-2019.

India is strategically placed in a thriving trade zone connecting South East Asia and Oceania on one end and Middle East, Africa and Europe on the other end. India can develop itself as a logistics hub for a few of such types of trades. India also has a strong potential to develop its RoRo (Roll on Roll off) terminals into regional consolidation and distribution centers for automobiles produced in India and South East Asia. Similar hubs can also be developed for container trade and liquid cargo.

The 'Make in India' campaign is being envisaged as a key strand of strategy for Indian economic revival and sustained growth. It promises that a boost in the country's manufacturing capabilities by inviting foreign capital and technology would not only adjust the balance in India's GDP skewed towards services but also provide employment.

'Make in India' embodies the manufacturing led, trade-export-growth model that has to be situated and understood in the context of global production systems. Therefore, the 'Make in India' strategy has to embed itself within the global supply chain network to participate and garner a greater share in the world trade.

The trade logistics network forms the backbone of modern supra-national supply chains. Even if global production were to shift to India due to favourable wage-labour arbitrage, skilled work force, availability of industry specific clusters, reduction in non-tariff barriers amongst other incentives and she becomes the factory of the world a la China, high logistics costs could negate any low cost production advantage. Indian logistics costs are estimated to be at a high of around 13 to 14 per cent of GDP, almost double, when compared with 7 to 8 per cent of GDP in developed countries having superior logistics performance.

'Make in India' would necessitate more than mere connectivity to international trade logistics network, rather complete integration with it so that exporters can move, store and deliver goods faster and cheaper, the only way to retain their competitive advantage.

National competitiveness as a whole would decide the success of 'Make in India' strategy, which cannot be divorced from trade logistics performance. Fortunately, the logistics barriers faced by India are self-imposed and are not due to any geographical disadvantage such as being landlocked.

Air Cargo in India

The strong relationship between growth in international trade and logistics infrastructure is widely acknowledged. Growth in trade induced requirement for supporting infrastructure while availability of infrastructure at competitive rates promotes trade and improve global competitiveness of the country. Availability of infrastructure is also a key determinant of foreign direct investment (FDI) inflows. In developing countries like India an efficient logistics infrastructure can reduce cost of transportation which in turn can contribute directly to global competitiveness of the country. Efficient logistics industry acts as an economic catalyst by opening up new market opportunities, moving products and services with speed and efficiency.

The air cargo industry incorporates an industrial supply chain, which includes airlines, customs, ground services, air cargo forwarders, brokers, domestic transportation, air cargo terminals, distribution centers and integrated international express services. Of these, air cargo terminals are critical in the air cargo supply chain. A typical air cargo terminal has three main users – airlines, air cargo terminal operators and forwarders/cargo-agents who are the principal contributors to the revenue of air cargo terminals.

The demand for air freight is limited by cost, typically priced 4–5 times that of road transport and 12–16 times that of sea transport. These values differ from country to country, season to season and from product to product and for different volumes also. Cargo shipped by air thus have high values per unit or are very time-sensitive, such as documents, pharmaceuticals, fashion garments, production samples, electronics consumer goods, and perishable agricultural and seafood products. They also include some inputs to meet just-in-time production and emergency shipments of spare parts. As the volume of air freight grows, there is a natural progression from passenger aircraft to chartered cargo planes of increasing size and ultimately to scheduled cargo services.

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

The Indian logistics market recorded US $104.10 billion revenue in 2014, and is likely to reach revenues of US $150-$160 billion by 2020. Transportation accounts for about 60 per cent of the market revenues. Demand for project logistics services will be particularly strong in the manufacturing sector as the Indian Government's push to increase the manufacturing output in the country will spur infrastructural activities in this space. The total market opportunity for project logistics services in India is estimated to be $150.86 billion for the 2014-2019.

India is strategically placed in a thriving trade zone connecting South East Asia and Oceania on one end and Middle East, Africa and Europe on the other end. India can develop itself as a logistics hub for a few of such types of trades. India also has a strong potential to develop its RoRo (Roll on Roll off) terminals into regional consolidation and distribution centers for automobiles produced in India and South East Asia. Similar hubs can also be developed for container trade and liquid cargo.

The 'Make in India' campaign is being envisaged as a key strand of strategy for Indian economic revival and sustained growth. It promises that a boost in the country's manufacturing capabilities by inviting foreign capital and technology would not only adjust the balance in India's GDP skewed towards services but also provide employment.

'Make in India' embodies the manufacturing led, trade-export-growth model that has to be situated and understood in the context of global production systems. Therefore, the 'Make in India' strategy has to embed itself within the global supply chain network to participate and garner a greater share in the world trade.

The trade logistics network forms the backbone of modern supra-national supply chains. Even if global production were to shift to India due to favourable wage-labour arbitrage, skilled work force, availability of industry specific clusters, reduction in non-tariff barriers amongst other incentives and she becomes the factory of the world a la China, high logistics costs could negate any low cost production advantage. Indian logistics costs are estimated to be at a high of around 13 to 14 per cent of GDP, almost double, when compared with 7 to 8 per cent of GDP in developed countries having superior logistics performance.

'Make in India' would necessitate more than mere connectivity to international trade logistics network, rather complete integration with it so that exporters can move, store and deliver goods faster and cheaper, the only way to retain their competitive advantage.

National competitiveness as a whole would decide the success of 'Make in India' strategy, which cannot be divorced from trade logistics performance. Fortunately, the logistics barriers faced by India are self-imposed and are not due to any geographical disadvantage such as being landlocked.

LOGISTICS SECTOR IN INDIA – THE GROWTH DRIVERS

A glimpse into various industrial sectors highlights the anticipated upsurge in trade and commerce and the consequent growth in the need for a strong logistics industry:

- India's nominal GDP is expected to grow to USD 3.6 trillion by 2020
- By 2030, India's crude steel production is expected to increase by a factor of 4.
- The demand for cement in the country is expected to double by 2030.
- Agricultural output, although reduced in size as a percentage of the economy, is expected to increase from 207 million metric tonnes (MMT) to 295 MMT by 2020.
- The Indian textiles industry is expected to triple from USD 78 billion currently to US$ 220 billion by 2020.
- The share of organized retail is expected to increase from 5 percent currently to 24 percent by 2020.
- India's industrial energy consumption is expected to double by 2020. In this scenario, the country will need to mine 2 billion tonnes of coal by 2030 and transport 75 percent of mined coal. Further, around 30 percent of total transported coal will have to be imported through ports.
- Overall export-import (EXIM) cargo at Indian ports is projected to increase to around 2,800 MMT by 2020 from approximately 890 MMT currently.
- Finished consumer goods, both imported and those produced in India, will have to be transported to the country's middle-class consumers, which, by 2030, are expected to increase fourfold from the current middle class population of 160 million.

Logistics is the backbone of the economy provides efficient, cost effective flow of goods on which other commercial sector depends. Logistics is the total process of moving goods from origin to the destination in the timeliest and cost efficient manner possible. The concept of Logistics covers all activities relating to procurement, transport, transshipment and storage of goods. The logistics industry evolved due to the rising trend of Companies focusing on their competencies and outsourcing the ancillary activities to expert's. Outsourcing of logistics function leads to improved customer service, enhancing flexibility of business operations and reduction cost and capital expenditure.

GLOBAL AIR FREIGHT INDUSTRY

Air freight Market Industry

Upward momentum in FTKs has stalled in 2016

- Annual growth in global air freight tonne kilometres fell to 0.9% year-on-year in May 2016.
- The upward momentum that was a feature in H2 2015 has stalled, amid a soft underlying demand backdrop.
- Asia Pacific and N.American airlines registered declines in FTKs in May, offset partly by robust European growth.
- The industry-wide freight load factor fell to a record-May low, keeping intense pressure on revenues and yields.

Global air freight tonne kilometres (FTKs) grew by 0.9% year-on-year in May 2016, down from a (revised) 2.6% in April. May's growth rate is an improvement from the negative rates seen during Q1 2016, which followed the boost to air freight in early-2015 from seaport disruption on the US west coast. But it is increasingly evident that the upward momentum in seasonally-adjusted terms that was a feature of the second half of 2015 has stalled. Indeed, seasonally-adjusted FTKs in May were just 0.2% higher than in January.

The soft patch for air cargo corresponds with broader weakness in global trade growth. (Developments in global trade volumes explain four-fifths of the weakness in air freight traffic.) As we noted last month, global trade volumes declined in year-on-year terms in Q1 2016 for the first time since the end of 2009.

Admittedly, annual world trade growth increased to an eight month high in April. Moreover, given that May 2015 marked the nadir in trade volumes last year, the favourable annual comparison is likely to see world trade growth climb higher in May too. (See Chart 2.) Nonetheless, the bigger picture is that world trade volumes have broadly tracked sideways since the end of 2014, and the relationship between global output and trade has undergone a structural shift. Global business surveys continue to offer little encouragement for an immediate turnaround in fortunes for industry-wide air freight either.

Air freight market overview - May 2016

	World share	FTK	AFTK	FLF (%-pt) ²	FLF (level) ³	FTK1	AFTK1	FLF (%-pt) ²	FLF (level) ³
Total Market	100.0%	0.9%	4.9%	-1.7%	41.9%	-0.5%	6.3%	-2.9%	42.2%
International	87.0%	0.8%	5.1%	-1.9%	45.1%	-0.9%	5.9%	-3.1%	45.5%

There is little respite on the capacity front either. Admittedly, annual growth in available freight tonne kilometres (AFTKs) eased to 4.9% year-on-year in May – the slowest pace since March 2015. But this looks to be a blip, and industry-wide freight capacity has continued to trend upwards strongly. All told, the industry-wide freight load factor dropped to 41.9% in May – a record low for the month and 1.7 percentage points lower than in May 2015. This is continuing to exert intense pressure on freight yields and revenues.

Air freight volumes across the Pacific – the largest market in terms of FTKs flown – were almost 12% lower during the first four months of 2016 compared to the same period in 2015. Looking specifically at air cargo volumes into and out of the US, imports from Japan are down 46% this year to date (up to April), mainly reflecting the boost that air cargo received from airbag recalls in early 2015.

The next two largest freight markets – those between Europe and Asia, and across the Atlantic – have also seen annual declines in FTKs this year to date, albeit more modest (1.2% and 2.0% respectively).

ECONOMIC PERFORMANCE OF THE AIRLINE INDUSTRY

- Consumers benefit from lower fuel prices with lower fares, more routes, and will spend 1% of world GDP on air transport.
- Economic development is a big winner from the doubling of city pairs and halving of air transport costs over the past 20 years.
- Governments gain substantially from $118bn of tax next year and from almost 63 million ‘supply chain’ jobs.
- Load factors are forecast to slip a little as capacity accelerates, but breakeven should fall even further as fuel hedges unwind.
- Equity owners see a far better 2015 and 2016 with a 9%+ average airline ROIC, above the cost of capital for the first time.
- Credit metrics improve further with net debt, adjusted for operating leases, forecast to decline from 4x to 3.6x EBITDAR this year.
- Jobs in the industry should reach 2.61 million, productivity will be up 3.4% and GVA/employee over $100,000.
- Infrastructure use costs are rising further, plus inefficiencies in Europe alone add €2.9bn to airline costs next year.
- N American airlines perform best with a forecast 10.8% net post-tax profit margin in 2016. Africa is the weakest with a 3.5% loss.

Air Cargo in India

The strong relationship between growth in international trade and logistics infrastructure is widely acknowledged. Growth in trade induced requirement for supporting infrastructure while availability of infrastructure at competitive rates promotes trade and improve global competitiveness of the country. Availability of infrastructure is also a key determinant of foreign direct investment (FDI) inflows. In developing countries like India an efficient logistics infrastructure can reduce cost of transportation which in turn can contribute directly to global competitiveness of the country. Efficient logistics industry acts as an economic catalyst by opening up new market opportunities, moving products and services with speed and efficiency.

The air cargo industry incorporates an industrial supply chain, which includes airlines, customs, ground services, air cargo forwarders, brokers, domestic transportation, air cargo terminals, distribution centers and integrated international express services. Of these, air cargo terminals are critical in the air cargo supply chain. A typical air cargo terminal has three main users – airlines, air cargo terminal operators and forwarders/cargo-agents who are the principal contributors to the revenue of air cargo terminals.

The demand for air freight is limited by cost, typically priced 4–5 times that of road transport and 12–16 times that of sea transport. These values differ from country to country, season to season and from product to product and for different volumes also. Cargo shipped by air thus have high values per unit or are very time-sensitive, such as documents, pharmaceuticals, fashion garments, production samples, electronics consumer goods, and perishable agricultural and seafood products. They also include some inputs to meet just-in-time production and emergency shipments of spare parts. As the volume of air freight grows, there is a natural progression from passenger aircraft to chartered cargo planes of increasing size and ultimately to scheduled cargo services.

BUSINESS STRATEGY

➤ Obtaining CHA license

Currently we are not the authorized Custom house agents, hence for that purpose we need to obtain the CHA license for the purpose of carrying on the business as a Customs House Agent relating to the entry or departure of a conveyance or the import or export of goods at any Customs Station, hence we shall in near future as a part of our business strategy obtain Customs House Agents License.

➤ Going into Different Business Vertical

Currently Major part of our revenue comes from Air freight and our company does not have its exposure in regards to ocean freight, in the near future we plan to increase our business verticals and also start operations with regards to ocean freight.

➤ Expansion of Networks

We are in planning for expansion of our branches in tier II and tier III cities as there is increase in flight connectivity in these cities and there is more scope of business operations.

COMPETITION

The industry in which we operate is highly competitive and fragmented. We have a lot of competition from regional and national carriers who are in business of freight forwarding. We compete a lot with other service provider on basis of Service quality, price and reliability. While these factors are key Parameters in client's decision making matrix in availing service, we try to offer the best service at the most economical price. We provide services at a large scale and we provide options of various airlines which makes us offer best quality service in comparisons to our competitors.

We believe that scale of our operations allow us to meet customer requirements better than small freight forwarders.

Due to industry fragmentation there is no authentic data available to our Company on total Industry size and market share of Our Company vis-vis Competitors.

It was a time when the industry was still in a nascent stage and the country was heavily dependent on an assortment of imported goods from the developed or fast developing countries. The deployment of manpower in manufacturing processes was limited to a few select industries such as jute, textile, chemicals etc. The legislation on creation and development of a fool proof multi-dimensional Social Security system, when the country's economy was in a very fledgling state was obviously a remarkable gesture towards the socio economic amelioration of a workforce though limited in number and geographic distribution. India, notwithstanding, thus, took the lead in providing organized social protection to the working class through statutory provisions.
